

Giovanni Sciacovelli

giovannisciacovelli@gmail.com

www.giovannisciacovelli.com

EMPLOYMENT	Economist (EP), International Monetary Fund	2025 –
EDUCATION	PhD, Economics, Northwestern University Committee: Martin Eichenbaum, Giorgio Primiceri, Matthew Rognlie	2025
	MA, Economics, Northwestern University	2020
	MS, Economics, Stockholm School of Economics	2018
	BA, Economics, Università Tor Vergata	2016
WORKING PAPERS	Monetary Policy Transmission Through Adjustable-Rate Mortgages in the Euro Area Finalist at the 2025 ECB Young Economist Prize
	A Monetary Policy Framework for Developing Countries with Juan Passadore, Filiz Unsal, and Carlos van Hombreeck Presented at the 2022 Lille-Reading Workshop, 2023 Annual Meeting of the Society for Economic Dynamics (SED), 2023 Annual Conference of the Banco Central do Brasil, 2023 WBG and IMF Annual Meetings
	Financial Flows in the Latin Monetary Union: A Machine Learning Approach with Thomas Pellet Presented at the 2022 BNB-EABH Conference, Monetary Unions in History
WORK IN PROGRESS	Fixed or Adjustable Mortgage? Endogenous Rate Choice in a Model with Idiosyncratic Uncertainty
	Germany's Current Account Boom: The Impact of Housing Policies on Asset Demand and Household Investment
PAST EMPLOYMENT	Summer Research Graduate Program Participant, European Central Bank	6/2023–9/2023
	Fund Internship Program Participant, International Monetary Fund	6/2022–8/2022
	Research Assistant, Prof. Guido Lorenzoni, Northwestern University	6/2021–6/2022
	Research Assistant, Prof. Giorgio Primiceri, Northwestern University	3/2021–6/2021
	Trainee in DG-Monetary Policy, European Central Bank	8/2018–7/2019
	Research Assistant, Prof. Ruben Durante, Sciences Po	10/2017–2/2018
PRESENTATIONS	2024: Bank of Canada, Bank of France, Bank of Italy, Reserve Bank of Australia, Bank of Spain, Bank of England, Northwestern University Seminar Series
	2023: European Central Bank Research Department Internal Seminar, 2023 Annual Meeting of the Society for Economic Dynamics (SED), Northwestern University Seminar Series
	2022: IMF Research Department Internal Seminar, 2022 Lille-Reading Workshop, Northwestern University Seminar Series
FELLOWSHIPS, GRANTS & AWARDS	Dissertation Fellowship, Northwestern University	2024–2025
	Global Impacts Graduate Fellowship, Northwestern Buffett Institute	2022–2023

Fulbright Scholarship, The US-Italy Fulbright Commission	2019
Ermenegildo Zegna Founder's Scholarship	2019
Merit Scholarship, Stockholm School of Economics (top 10% student)	2018
Merit Scholarship, Tor Vergata University (top 5% student)	2017

SOFTWARE SKILLS Python, Stata, Latex, MS Office (proficient), Matlab (intermediate), R, SQL, SAS (basic)

LANGUAGES English (fluent), Italian (native)

REFERENCES

Prof. Martin Eichenbaum Department of Economics Northwestern University +1 (847) 491-7001 eich@northwestern.edu	Prof. Giorgio Primiceri Department of Economics Northwestern University +1 (847) 491-5395 g-primiceri@northwestern.edu
Prof. Matthew Rognlie Department of Economics Northwestern University +1 (847) 491-8215 matthew.rognlie@northwestern.edu

Last updated: October 2025